1) Checklist for Web-Based Publication of Doctoral Dissertation (official form)

- (1) Answer “Yes” or “No” to all items in accordance with the instructions provided on the checklist form and sign your name.

- (2) If your answer is “Yes” for any of the checklist items, submit an “Application for Publication of Dissertation under Special Circumstances”.
- (3) Even in the event you answer “Yes” to checklist item No. 5, you do not need to submit such an application if the circumstances described there will cease to apply within one year after the date of degree conferral.
- (4) In the event you answer “Yes” to checklist item No. 9 (patent application) or to checklist item No. 10 (there are other particular reasons precluding publication of the dissertation through the Internet), contact the PEAK/GPEAK Section to carry out additional necessary procedures.
- (5) If there is any change in the “unavoidable circumstances” of the checklist after the submission, contact the PEAK/GPEAK Section as it is required to carry out the application procedures again.

【Note】 (If the necessary procedures are not followed, the full-text dissertation will be published on UTokyo Repository from authorized publication date, based on the case 8 of “Unavoidable circumstances”.)

※Applicant’s signature must be handwritten.

Checklist for Web-Based Publication of Doctoral Dissertation
Under the Degrees Regulations of Japan as revised in March 2013, all Doctorate holders are obligated to publicize their doctoral dissertation in its entirety through the Internet within one year after the conferral date. (At the University of Tokyo, such theses are publicized through the UTokyo Repository.) However, under certain “unavoidable circumstances”, for example, where the dissertation contains any content incapable of being publicized through the Internet, or where the publication of the dissertation is likely to be disadvantageous for its author, the Doctorate holder is allowed to publicize a redacted or abridged version or a bibliographic information of the dissertation, instead of a full-text publication. The cases described in items 1 to 10 listed below are “unavoidable circumstances” recognized by the University of Tokyo. Check whether your doctoral dissertation to be submitted comes under any of those cases. If you answer “Yes” to any item, you must submit an “Application for Publication of Dissertation under Special Circumstances” accompanied by a document explaining in detail the circumstances to the dean of the graduate school to which you belong.
Answer either “Yes” or “No” for each statement by entering a checkmark (✓).
