| Course Objectives/Overview | This is the first of two compulsory courses PEAK students will take on academic writing. The purpose of this course is to equip students with the foundational skills needed to write in an academic manner. Students will learn not only the characteristics of this particular genre of writing, but also learn to appreciate the process of writing; both of which are essential skills needed in preparing written assignments for subsequent classes throughout their college career.   |                      |                                    |        |           |  |
| Method of Evaluation           | Students will be evaluated based on attendance, class participation and various oral and written assignments and peer review exercises. Details will be announced in the first class.  |                      |                                    |        |           |  |

| Course Objectives/Overview | (Course Objectives/Overview) In this writing course, we focus on the development of the concept of the 'Eco-city' through two early incarnations which appeared to anticipate contemporary emphasis on renewability, sustainability, and self-sufficiency in our city planning. In tandem with the content, you will be expected to master the basic requirements of sustained critical writing by observing subject-specific format requirements, gathering convincing evidence to support your arguments, discussing your material in a logical and sustained manner using an appropriate linguistic register, and conducting and engaging with peer review comment. |                      |                                    |        |           |  |
