

Notes on “Graduation Thesis” Submission

<For JEA Students>

The deadline for submitting graduation thesis must be strictly observed (The thesis must be formatted and submitted in accordance with the instructions given by each program). Late submission will not be accepted except for very exceptional circumstances.

If there is any delay in the submission of the thesis due to an unpredictable accident not attributable to the student, the thesis might be accepted. In this case, the student must consult the Program Director immediately at curriculum[at]jea.c.u-tokyo.ac.jp and submit the thesis along with the reason for delay. A document of proof is also required.

The late acceptance of the thesis will be subject to discussion by the Senior Division Committee. Please note that such an acceptance applies only to exceptional cases and the following reasons are NOT included (These shall be the responsibility of the student.).

- Submission of the thesis was not in time due to computer problems.
- Thesis submission was delayed due to bad internet connection.
- The student thought that the thesis was uploaded but it was in fact not uploaded.

<For ES Students>

The deadline for submitting graduation thesis must be strictly observed (The thesis must be formatted and submitted in accordance with the instructions given by each program). Late submission will not be accepted except for very exceptional circumstances.