Operation of the Komaba Library During the A Semester

Since the spring, the Komaba Library has been open, as a rule, only to people affiliated with the Komaba I Campus. As of the beginning of the A Semester, however, it may now also be used by people affiliated with other UTokyo campuses.

People from other campuses may make reservations to use the Komaba Library under the same conditions as Komaba I members, including the continued two-shift-per-day system and avoiding the “3 C’s” (closed spaces, crowds, and close contact). Your continued understanding and cooperation will be appreciated.

The Komaba Library may not be used for online classes or online examinations.

Please continue to check the Komaba Library’s website for the latest information.
