

Class Delivery Method for the A Semester (A1/A2 Term) AY2022

To PEAK Junior Division Students,

In the A Semester (A1/A2 Term) AY 2022, Junior Division courses will be held face-to-face in principle, with some April-entry students' courses continuing to be held online.

Most classes will be held online during the first week of A Semester/ A1 Term (Oct. 3 to Oct. 7) to avoid congestion in classrooms and on campus. Please prepare the electronic devices for online classes on your own.

<Information related to COVID-19>

- If you are infected with COVID-19, certified as having had close contact with an infected person, or if you have other suspected infections (including asymptomatic, pseudo-symptomatic, and vaccine adverse reactions), please report it through the "COVID-19 Infection Report Form".
- If you need to be absent from class due to the COVID-19 infection, please follow the instructions given by the instructor of the course you are taking. At the first class, you will be instructed whether you need to contact the instructor and, if so, how to do so. If you are unsure, you can contact the instructor directly as his/her e-mail address is listed in the syllabus on UTAS.
- If you need to be absent from class due to the COVID-19 infection, consideration will be given to the extent possible to campus resources, but measures will be different depending on each course. Please note that not all classes will be substituted by alternative measures such as online classes.

<Other information>

Please keep checking the Junior Division website of the Academic Affairs Division. Important notifications related to academic affairs are posted occasionally.

Announcement

- ◆ If you are unable to attend in-person classes for all courses throughout the 2022A Semester, you may request the "Online Learning Request" around late August to early September.
- Application for each course will NOT be accepted. If you apply for online learning, you must take all PEAK courses to be offered in the 2022A Semester online.
- Application on the grounds of infection anxiety will not be accepted.
- This application only applies to the Junior Division PEAK courses.
- Courses for the April-entry students will be conducted face-to-face in principle except for the first week. Moreover, some face-to-face courses may not be taken online due to the course method or the conditions of the instructor. It is NOT permitted to request for April-entry students' courses to be offered online for being abroad.

- Online learning students must refrain from any nonessential and non-urgent outings during the online learning period to prevent infection.

- Online learning students are NOT allowed to participate in club activities (except for those that can be participated in at home via online) during the online learning period to prevent infection.

- Online learning students are NOT allowed to work part-time outside the home with opportunities to interact with others during the online learning period to prevent infection.

◆ Web syllabus for the 2022A Semester will be available on UTAS around mid-September. Syllabus booklet distribution will start from September 21 at the PEAK/GPEAK Section counter (Admin. Bldg 1F, Counter no.2).
