

To students enrolled in or before 2022

Notice: Changes in PEAK Academic Handbook
Appendix 6: Integrated Course Outlines (for April-entry Students)

The following changes are set in place as April 2023 and apply to students enrolled in and before AY2022.

Type	Group	Main course category	Courses	Course content	Semester /Term	Credits
Newly Offered	A	Sciences of Language and Text	Literary Theory and Criticism	This course examines the latest findings in narratology, semiotics, psychoanalytic theory, feminist theory, and postcolonial studies that are the basis for textual analysis. In this course, practical trainings in critique will also be provided. 【Newly offered from AY 2024】	S /S1/S2/ A /A1/A2	1 or 2
Newly Offered	A	Sciences of Language and Text	Cultural Interaction and Translation	From the perspective of 'World literature', this course rethinks literature as an area of encounter and dialogue between multiple cultures. The course theoretically and practically examines 'translation', which is essential for the circulation of literature and culture in multiple linguistic spheres, and also considers 'adaptation', such as film adaptations of literary works. 【Newly offered from AY 2024】	S /S1/S2/ A /A1/A2	1 or 2
Newly Offered	A	Sciences of Language and Text	Textual Culture and History	This course examines a variety of cultural texts, both ancient and modern, by focusing on language and media. The analysis is not limited to literary and ideological texts, but also includes other cultural discourses such as cinema and subcultures, as well as social, political and economic discourses.	S /S1/S2/ A /A1/A2	1 or 2

				【Newly offered from AY 2024】
Newly Offered	A	Culture and Representation	Sexual Politics I	【D&I Courses】 This course examines the cultural politics of gender and sexuality through the analysis of theory and representation.	S	2
Newly Offered	A	Culture and Representation	Theories of Social Justice	【D&I Courses】 This course discusses the issues surrounding the notion of "justice" in today's society, which is built on the premise of diversity.	A	2
Newly Offered	B	Area Studies	Race and Gender	【D&I Courses】 This course examines the issues concerning race and gender in modern and contemporary society.	S	2
Newly Offered	C	Modern Law	Diversity and Law	【D&I Courses】 This course helps students understand the diversity of today's society in relation to the practices of law.	A	2
Newly Offered	C	Studies in Contemporary Societies	Politics in Today's World	The course examines political phenomena found in various countries of today's world by multifaceted approach from different fields of political sciences and provide students with viewpoints for further in-depth study of political sciences and other sciences.	A	2
Newly Offered	C	Studies in Contemporary Societies	Sex, Gender and the Body I	【D&I Courses】 This course examines the issues concerning gender, sexuality and the body in today's society.	S	2
Newly Offered	D	Science, Technology and Ethics	Feminist Science Studies	【D&I Courses】 The course examines the intersection of the construction of modern scientific knowledge and the study of gender/sexuality.	S	2

Change	A	Sciences of Language and Text	Semiotics	【Not offered from AY 2024】	S /S1/S2/ A /A1/A2	1 or 2
Change	A	Sciences of Language and Text	Translation Theory	【Not offered from AY 2024】	S /S1/S2/ A /A1/A2	1 or 2
Change	A	Sciences of Language and Text	Literary and Cultural Theories	【Not offered from AY 2024】	S /S1/S2/ A /A1/A2	1 or 2
Change	D	Agricultural Ecosciences	Natural Environments and Biological Resources	【From AY2023 onwards, not offered in A2 Term】	S - A2	1 or 2

April 2023
PEAK/GPEAK Section