Yale English Language Institute 2012 SUMMER SESSION

SUMMER ACTIVITIES at Yale University

Students who live on the Yale campus during the summer will have an opportunity to experience many aspects of Yale undergraduate life. Yale dormitories, called residential colleges, are the foundation of Yale's social and intellectual structure. The residential colleges foster a sense of community for their members and serve as a focal point for both informal and planned activities. Only students in residence have access to these summer facilities and activities.

Through the residential college staff and an activities director, students are offered a wide variety of activities and trips. A key feature has been a trip to the United Nations during which students meet with the UN ambassador or a representative from their home mission to participate in a dialogue on current issues and the role of the United Nations.

The Summer Master is the chief administrative officer of the summer colleges and supervises the Yale students who serve as residential counselors. Together they are responsible for the well-being of the summer residents. The counselors help summer students adjust to life at Yale and the New Haven area, and they coordinate a wide range of cultural and recreational activities such as a lecture and film series, volleyball tournaments, chess matches, softball or touch football games, dances, and study breaks. There are also organized, supervised outings and field trips, which in the past have included visits and excursions to New York and Boston for Broadway plays and major league baseball games.

THE CITY OF NEW HAVEN and beyond

Yale is located in historic New Haven, situated between Boston and New York City. New Haven offers the attractions of a cosmopolitan center coupled with the benefits of a livable city size. As Yale President Richard Levin has observed: "New Haven is a great city: rich in architecture, music, theater, museums, restaurants, and parks; varied in its people and neighborhoods; large enough to be interesting, small enough to be friendly."

Examples of modern architecture abound from such masters as Frank Gehry, Kevin Roche, Cesar Pelli, Marcel Breuer, and Louis Kahn.

Each summer New Haven hosts a jazz festival with performances on the New Haven Green. The School of Music provides many free and low-cost concerts. For theater lovers there is an active Yale Summer Cabaret, a Yale Drama School-affiliated stage.

LIVING at Yale

English Language Institute students live with American and other international students in one of Yale's twelve residential colleges.

The rooms in Yale's residential colleges are simply furnished. Each room is equipped with a twin bed, mattress, pillow, blanket, dresser, desk, desk lamp, and chair. Students should bring their own sheets (twin, extra-long) and towels, as well as an extra lamp and a fan, if desired (air conditioners are not permitted). Household items are available for purchase at the Yale Bookstore.

Each suite is equipped with a jack for Ethernet service. Students must provide their own telephones. Meals, featuring a wide variety of foods, are served during three meal periods per day in the college dining halls. Meal service begins with dinner on the evening of housing check-in and concludes with lunch on the afternoon of the last day of classes for each session.

Computer Services Wireless internet is available throughout the campus. Computer clusters are available in each residential college. Students also have access to an Ethernet connection in the college living quarters at no charge if they plan to bring a laptop computer. (Students will need to bring an Ethernet adapter and a category 5 Ethernet patch cable.) Students who live on campus and bring a computer thus have access to the high-speed Yale network through this dormitory room connection.

Health Services For students living on campus, Yale University Health Services provides limited coverage to students registered in Summer Session courses. Coverage includes urgent visit and infirmary care. Students will also be covered more fully through a group insurance policy.

Students with Disabilities Yale's Resource Office on Disabilities, whose director is Judy York, is available to work with students, faculty and staff to identify and provide appropriate support services, academic accommodations, and specific on-campus housing. Ms. York may be reached at (203) 432-2324 or (203) 432-8250 (TTY) judith.york@yale.edu
