

Trainer Biography

Dr. Jeffrey Robens
Editorial Development Manager

PhD from the University of Pennsylvania
Research positions at the National University of Singapore, RIKEN, and Kyoto University

Dr. Jeffrey Robens is Editorial Development Manager at Nature Research and is responsible for conducting the Nature Research Academies—training workshops to improve publication output worldwide. He has strong scientific qualifications with 20 years of academic experience and numerous publications and awards. He received his PhD from the University of Pennsylvania and then worked at premier research institutes in Singapore and Japan, including RIKEN and Kyoto University. Since leaving academia in 2012, he has conducted over 250 academic training workshops across Asia and the Middle East to help researchers improve their publication quality and impact.